BRECKWELL: THE BEST SOURCE OF WOOD PELLET HEAT

Breckwell is the best way to warm your family with pellet heat. With the push of a button (or a pre-set thermostat setting), you can relax within minutes in front of a soothing pellet burning fire, made even more realistic with optional fireplace log and/or brick panels.

Convenient to Use

A digital circuit board controls your Breckwell automatically, regulating feed rate, blower speed and other vital functions. Push pad controls are easy to locate and understand. A large internal pellet storage hopper allows up to two days use without adding fuel. Re-filling is a breeze with Breckwell's exclusive "open out" lid on fireplace inserts, which reduces spillage.

Convenient to Operate

You have complete control over a wide range of heat outputs. There are up to five settings from which to choose: from "1" to maintain house temperature to "5" for quick warmth. You can connect to an optional room thermostat and your Breckwell will operate automatically like any central furnace.

Easy to Maintain

Light weight fly ash is easily removed from a large, built-in ash drawer on freestanding models. Heat exchange tubes are cleaned with a conveniently located push/pull rod.

The P2700 gives you a large, three-sided bay window with a bright, wood fire-like flame, powerful heat delivery, and modern, gold-accented styling. It has a 45,000 Btu input and 80% efficiency plus a 50-pound hopper capacity. The P2700 has a large ash pan, the size of its pedestal. Glamour has never been more obvious in a pellet stove. All of our years of experience have gone into producing the highest quality available in a small profile model.
